"So that everyone has the best chance to come home."

We all go to work each day and return to our homes and loving families, but on October 24, 2010, that suddenly changed for Sergeant Tim Prunty of the Shreveport Police Department. He was just doing his job when he was ambushed by a citizen and killed in the line of duty. Sergeant Prunty suffered from a gunshot wound to the leg that resulted in a traumatic bleeding injury. He died a hero pushing a citizen out of the line of fire and saving her life. Police officers like Sergeant Prunty go to work each day just like we do and they deserve to have every piece of safety equipment available to make sure they return home each night. I organized Blue Forever, Inc. to provide lifesaving Belt Trauma Kits containing Combat Gauze to local law enforcement officers. These kits empower officers with a lifesaving tool to save their life or a fellow officer's life during a traumatic bleeding incident. Through Blue Forever, Inc. I am able to provide kits and training.
